ble services in the House.CHIRKISH—Tucker Hall was crowded last evening to its fullest capacity by an eager audience, anxious to witness the the ventriloquist, juggler, Psychologist left the Hall who was not satisfied that he had obtained the worth of his money.A young gentleman, from the country, contemplating matrimony, drew the elegant parlor lounge, Mrs. D. W. Bain other presents were given away. Tonight the principal prize will be a handsome set of chamber furniture, which will be on exhibition at the door of the Hall to-day.WORK COMMENCED.—The selling of the Fair Ground lots commenced yesterday at 11 o'clock, but owing to the bitter cold weather the attendance was slim and the bidding slow. Only eight lots were sold. These, including three old buildings, averaged $327 each. On next Thursday, at 11 o'clock, the sale will be commenced again, when sixty-one lots will be offered, together with the buildings, sheds, stalls, etc. A good day, by crowd and active bidding is looked for.RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—The Bridge over Deep River, twelve miles of Greensboro on the North Carolina Rail-tated into the river below. The engine had passed over the bridge, and consequently no lives lost.DEATH OF A PROMINENT CITIZEN OF

The following communication from Dr.
Menninger explains itself. The reporter thinks he is not mistaken in his report, and if Dr. Murphy is, we know there is no man who would be more willing to make the amende:

RALEIGH, January 30, 1873.

Editors of Daily News:

GENTLEMEN:—In your issue of this morning, I find the following paragraph alluding to myself:"Who COMMERCE IT.—We inadvertently omitted to mention in our Senate proceedings that Dr. Murphy, the able Senator from Sampson, was permitted to make a statement in defense of his own county when the previous question was called on the Amnesties and Pardon bill. He said the first disorder that occurred in his county, from political causes, was the day succeeding a large political gathering when Jos. W. Holden, Dr. Menninger and two negroes from this city addressed the republicans, when a colored man, who had declared himself a democrat, and had the manliness to stand by his principles, was shot down in his own house by colored members of the Union League."Messrs. Editors:—Your reporter, or Dr. Murphy, is certainly mistaken in making this statement. I never addressed the Republicans of Dr. Murphy's county, never spoke from the same platform with Mr. Jos. W. Holden or any negroes from this city.Very Respectfully, H. J. MENNINGER, M. D.LEGISLATIVE YESTERDAY.—As will be seen by the regularly reported proceedings, that the House passed the bill to amend the school law of 1872 on its third reading and it goes to the Senate for concurrence. The following are the principal changes made in the provisions of the law enacted by the last General Assembly:Tax of 8 1/2 cents on $100 of property and 25 cents per capita on the poll.The funds raised is to be disbursed in the school districts of the respective counties of the State in proportion to the number of school children between ages of six and twenty-one, instead of giving two dollars for each pupil attending school of four months, or one dollar for each pupil attending school of two months duration.If the tax levied is not sufficient to carry on a school in each district for four months, the County Commissioners are authorized to levy an additional tax, provided the people of the county, in which the tax is levied, vote in favor of the same, at an election to be held for that purpose.The fund for each race is to be kept separate, and disbursed in the various school districts, and when not used in one year shall be kept for the succeeding year for the same race.The school money is not allowed to be used for the erection of any school houses.TRIAL OF THE PLYMOUTH MAIL ROBBERIES.—It will be remembered that the post office at Plymouth was robbed by some person or persons on the night of January 15th. Since which time, Colonel T. B. Long, the General Road Agent for North Carolina, has been on the track of the offenders. Friday night last, Colonel Long caused to be arrested Gray Griffith, Joseph Griffith, J. G.
Osborne, Whit Hallis and John Allen, who were duly tried before United States Commissioner, William Atkinson, at Plymouth, on Monday. Major Henry Gilliam, Charles Latham and Stewart Johnson, Esqs., appeared for the defendants, and the prosecution was conducted by John A. Moore, Esq., and Colonel Long. The two Griffiths, one of whom was a clerk in the postoffice, were bound over in the sum of $2,500 to appear before the Spring Term of the United States District Court.WANTED.—A good compositor to work on the Danville, (Va.) Times. Address P. Bouldin, Danville, Va.IMMOLATED.—From the Petersburg Appeal of the 30th inst. we take the following notice of the immolation of one of the editorial fraternity of this State upon the hymeneal altar. We offer Brother Manning our serious congratulations. Says the Appeal:"Our editorial brother and friend, Dr. H. E. T. Manning, of the Weldon, (N. C.) News, led to the altar at Grace Church, yesterday afternoon, Miss Christine V. Jarvis, the daughter of our esteemed townsman, Major William H. Jarvis. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. C. J. Gibson in an impressive manner, and was attended and witnessed by a large number of friends. After refreshments at the residence of Major Jarvis, on Old street, the happy couple left on the eight o'clock train for a bridal trip to New York and some other of the Northern cities. We wait after the Doctor and his fair bride our warmest good wishes and ardent prayers that their life may be passed under blue and unclouded skies, and that all kinds of blessings may attend their united journey."TYPGRAPHICAL.—A most egregious error occurred in the report of our Senate proceedings yesterday, which, as every one that read it will readily conclude, was strictly Typographical.The vote on Amnesties and Pardon, shows that only eight members voted in the affirmative, when, as stated in the proceedings, the bill was passed by 23 yeas, 18 nays. We therefore record the vote in order to fully correct the error.Those voting in the affirmative were: Messrs. Allen, Ayers, Cunningham, Davis, Dunham, Ellis, of Columbus, Flemming, Horton, McCauley, Merrimon, Miller, Morehead, of Guilford, Morehead, of Rockingham, Murphy, Murry, Nicholson, Norwood, Powell, Scott, Stafford Todd, Troy, Waring, Welch and Worth—25.Those voting in the negative were: Messrs. Cowles, Cramer, Ellis, of Catawba, Eppes, Grady, Gudger, Harris, Hill, Holloman, Humphrey, Hyman, Long, Mabson, McCabe, McCottet, Smith, Stillely and Walker—18.HENDERSON TOBACCO MARKET.—Our Henderson correspondent gives the following concerning the Henderson tobacco market:"At Cooper's warehouse, first opening, on the 29th inst., 18,000 pounds of tobacco were sold. At the Henderson warehouse, Wilkerson, Meadows & Co., 15,000 pounds were sold. All at spirited and satisfactory prices, ranging from $1.80 to $2.00 per hundred."PRISONAL INTELLIGENCE.— Maj. Harry E. Jones, of Baltimore, Col.
Abraham Watson, of Richmond, Va., and J. B. G. Roulhac, of Baltimore, are at the Yarbrough.The following gentlemen of the legal profession, from abroad, are in the city in attendance upon the Supreme Court: Gen. Rufus Barringer, of Charlotte, Jas. G. Allison, Esq., of Lincolnton, Col. D. Schenk, of Lincoln, and Judge William M. Shipp, of Charlotte.Remarks of Mr. J. S. Anderson, of Clark, in the House of Representatives, January 27th, 1873, upon the bill to amend the act to establish the Turnpike Road from New Market to McDowell county, to Asheville, in Buncombe county.MR. SPEAKER:—I beg leave to ask the indulgence of the House to submit a few brief remarks upon the bill now under consideration. I must say that I regret exceedingly to differ with my Western friends upon any measure tending in the slightest degree to the developing of the rich mineral and agricultural resources of any portion of our grand old State. However, much I may deplore this, duty constrains me to oppose any measure like this, involving, as I believe, more than one hundred and fifty thousand dollars of hard earnings which this bill proposes to wring from the pockets of the tax-payers without their consent, to be devoted to an wholly and unrighteous cause as this proposition seems to be.What do the friends of this measure propose? Why, sir, they propose to revive an old charter of a Turnpike road, known as the Asheville and Marion Turnpike road, for which they require over one hundred thousand dollars to carry out the provisions. Then they amend by adding a new section running from Asheville to Park View, and thence to Marshall in Madison county, also additional sections running through all the northwestern counties to wit: Yancey, Mitchell, Caldwell, Ashe, Alleghany, Watauga and Surry, thence, perhaps, eastward in the direction of Currituck on the extreme eastern border which, in my humble opinion, embraces not less than four or five hundred miles of road at a cost of not less than one hundred and fifty to two hundred thousand dollars.What a spectacle for the people of North Carolina, as well as the entire world to behold! Our present indebtedness, as claimed by some persons, is now about $40,000,000, and all the vital interests of the State are fast approaching financial ruin, with our internal improvement system broken down under the oppression of debt. Now the last vestige of her railroads, viz: the Western Extension from Salisbury west, under execution, and could be redeemed, as I believe, with about $240, 000, a sum very little exceeding that asked for the construction of those turnpike roads. I ask Representatives on this floor to pause and consider if it would not be wise for us to redeem this railroad, and thereby save over $4,000, 000; the most of which would be saved to the Treasury of North Carolina, rather than graciously bestow upon a few favorite counties in the northwest this enormous and extraordinary boon?Now, sir, I am absolutely opposed to the provisions of this bill upon another account, to which I now address myself.While I am in favor of paying the ante-war debt, or at least having an adjustment, which is estimated at about $10,000,000 now, in proportionto the valuation of our property at this time, which is $123,000,000 compared to $600,000,000 which it was prior to the war. Just in that proportion am I willing to pay on the ante bellum debt, and no more. Now I wish to address myself to the State bonds and other liabilities incurred during and since the war under a passed prior to and during the rebellion. I do esteem this class as valueless as Confederate money.As to State bonds issued under ordinances of the Convention of 1868, and in pursuance of that iniquitous Legislature of 1868 '69, I will never cast a vote to pay one dollar of them while I occupy my seat on this floor as a representative of a part of the people of North Carolina.And now I will address myself to this Turnpike road, which is one of the legitimate offerings of that same unholy and iniquitous Legislature of 1868-'69 notoriety by which the virtues of the once proud old North State was trampled down by a horde of Northern serfs, who came within her borders as political adventurers, and to prostitute and pervert her virtues, revenues and laws—who desecrated her proud old Capitol, and almost converted it into a den of thieves, Shylocks, Railroad Rings, &c. Why, sir, with these facts before the public, gentlemen ask me how I get around my constitutional obligation. I will say, sir, that I have taken upon myself that obligation without any mental reservation to violate its provisions, and I am substantially sustained by one of our learned Judges of the Supreme Court in his opinion of the constitution, which he declares is a mockery of contradictions.I believe, sir, the dividends declared by the N. C. Railroad should accrue to the benefit of the bondholders of the ante bellum debt, which is sufficient to pay the interest justly accruing thereon.I will say, once for all, that I do not recognize the validity of any part of the debt created during or since the war, and I charge you gentlemen here, the friends of this measure, to beware how you precipitate this iniquitous Turnpike bill upon the people, for if you ever protrude your political heads out of your own counties, they will certainly be stricken down.I ask pardon for having trespassed upon the patience of the House, and hope it will be the good pleasure of the House to vote this bill down.MARRIED.—

FRIDAY, JANUARY 31 1873.

THE DOOM OF RADICALISM—THE CREDIT MOBILIER DISEASE.

We publish in another column an article from the New York Herald, containing "meting and metrical tributes" to the memories of the distinguished members of Congress who have recently died of the Credit Mobilier plague. It is "rich, rare and racy," and will be found interesting and instructive.

The corrupt developments of the Credit Mobilier disease have thrown a pall of mourning over the capitol of the nation, and the shrieks of grief, lamentation and despair rend the air in the vicinity of the once proud but now crest-fallen and melancholy city that bears the name of the Father of his country.

Washington City is in agony and tears! The nation is disgraced! The most eminent and trusted representatives of the people in the halls of the national Legislature have been convicted of complicity in the most gigantic swindle of modern times—their characters are blasted and their political careers sealed!

We do not hesitate to say that the members of Congress who have been proved guilty of connection with the Credit Mobilier corruption schemes, should at once resign their seats and retire to private life. If they do not resign, they should be promptly expelled from Congress.

If the two Houses of Congress are to become rendezvous for political thieves and plunderers, then there is no hope for the country, and it might as well surrender at once all claims for national respectability, honesty and honor.

What consequences and effects will result from the Credit Mobilier disclosures cannot of course be predicted at present.

But our own opinion is that one of the immediate results will be to bring the Radical party into disrepute and disgrace, and arouse public indignation against it to such an extent that the organization will be rent and scattered into fragments.

In addition to the "meting and metrical tributes" to the memories of the distinguished politicians, who have been swept away by the pestilence, the poetical genius that presides over the columns of the Herald, will be called upon again to indite a similar tribute upon the demise of the National Republican party, that has with the sturdy tread of a giant, trampled down opposition and resistance until it holds the nation in its corrupt and strangling grasp.

The leading Radical Congressmen who have been implicated in the great national scandal, have not only brought disgrace and ignominy upon themselves, but also, as we believe, disaster and ruin upon the Radical party. The influence of these members for any good or useful purpose in Congress, is gone. When one of them introduces a measure or makes a speech, visions of the great Moblier fraud will rise before the imagination and the image of Oakes Ames will appear like a sheeted ghost upon the scene. The champions of the Administration having been detected in illicit and disgraceful acts of bribery, they are trembling with frantic despair, and have lost their standing and influence, and the Democratic leaders in Congress have now marched to the front, and will in all probability exercise a great and controlling power.

Alluding to the loss of prestige in the House of Representatives by the Republican spokesmen, the New York Times, a Radical organ, is very apprehensive the Democrats will now have the mastery in that body. Referring to this prospect of affairs, and the position of the Times, the Baltimore Gazette makes the following striking comment:

"This cannot be comfortable. This was strikingly illustrated the other day when, with a huge flourish of trumpets, the Executive scheme of reviving commerce by a Federal 'Board of Trade' and steamship subsidies, was introduced and debated. It was in the early days of Credit Mobilier, before the cloud had passed from the memory of Massachusetts, and the truth had not all been told. It was marshalled magnificently, and we must say, rather impressively, by Shellabarger, and sonorously by Kelley—alas! unconscious of his coming doom—and of course backed by Executive influence, and yet, after a debate in which Cox and Wood, and the Democratic leaders championed the opposition, it was practically and ignominiously defeated. So will it be, in all human probability, with the Administration in the Senate. The shadow of suspicion rests there too. The two Vice Presidents, outgoing and incoming, are stricken. Now Hamphreys bows her head in shame. A soldier-Senator, fresh in his seat, is tainted and Harlan has the consolation of knowing that Allison is as badly off as he is. The wane of the Massachusetts magician holds the Senate in awe, and the Reverend Chaplain who electioneered for Harlan now prays piteously. Senator Morton, no longer truculent, discusses abstract constitutional law, and with ill concealed disgust feeds on the Kansas question. Sumner is sick, body and spirit; Chandler is suddenly sobered, and Colfax, smitten with the shame of exposure, wonders silently whether he may not be made to form an alliterative triumvirate with Caldwell and Carney. The fact is patent, too, that the Administration Navy bill never would have passed, but for the support of the Democratic Senators from Delaware and New Jersey, who felt, as Mr. Webster grandly said, long ago, "that party differences should end at the ocean's edge."

It is evident that the Radical party cannot long be held together. The Credit Mobilier has been proved an entering wedge which is destined to sever the rotten trunk and lay bare the reeking corruption which has cankered the heart of the party.

The Credit Mobilier investigation will prove a blessing to the country in that it shall have the effect of overthrowing Radicalism in the nation, and driving the swindlers out of their seats in Congress.

As yet the President has not been involved in any respect with the intrigues of his leading defenders and partisans, but the Natick Cobbler, Vice President-elect Wilson, and the smiling outgoing Vice President, the "incorruptible" Colfax, have not escaped so luckily. The following couplet on this complaint individual and his co-partner in guilt, Hon. Oakes Ames, will serve to point a moral, if not to adorn a tale: "Cold facts from smiling fountains flow."

NOT PROHIBITED.
There seems to be an impression among some persons that the Legislature has not the power to pass a law requiring the payment of the poll-tax as one of the qualifications of an elector. Such an impression is erroneous. There is nothing in the Constitution of North Carolina, or of the United States which prohibits the Legislature from doing so. Section twenty-second of the Bill of Rights prohibits any property qualification from affecting the right to vote or hold office. The following is the language used by this section:

"As political rights and privileges are not dependent upon or modified by property, therefore no property qualification ought to affect the right to vote or hold office."

Certainly there is nothing in this section that presents the General Assembly from enacting a law requiring a voter to pay his poll-tax before he is permitted to cast his ballot. But on the other hand, this section by implication, gives the Legislature power to legislate on the qualifications of voters except in regard to property qualifications, which are prohibited.

Article sixth, section first of the Constitution, provides that "every male person born in the United States, and every male person who has been naturalized, twenty years old, or upward, who shall have resided in this State twelve months next preceding the election, and thirty days in the County in which he offers to vote, shall be deemed an elector."

Section second of the same article makes registration necessary; section third requires elections to be by ballot; section fourth prescribes the oath of office, and section fifth enumerates the classes of persons who are disqualified, namely, all who may deny the existence of God, all who may have been convicted of treason, perjury or other infamous crime, or of corruption and mal-practice in office.

This is all that the State Constitution says on the subject, and surely there is no prohibiting power by which the Legislature is forbidden to pass the proposed act.

Neither is there anything in the Constitution of the United States, nor in the acts of Congress, to prevent the Legislature from requiring the poll-tax to be paid as a requisite for voting. The State cannot make any distinction on account of color or previous condition of servitude. There are several States that require a prepayment of the capitation tax before a voter can exercise the elective franchise. Both Georgia and Kentucky have enacted such laws, and no question as to their constitutionality has ever been raised.

THE COMMITTEE ON THE SALE OF THE WESTERN ROAD.
A resolution has passed the Legislature, calling upon the Joint Committee appointed to investigate the circumstances of the sale of the Western North Carolina Road, to make a report of their labors.

The Committee has had the matter under consideration several weeks, and has examined a large number of witnesses from different sections of the State. They will doubtless make a report at an early day, and offer some suggestions as to the proper course to be pursued by the Legislature under the present aspect of affairs.

If there is any method by which the State can be relieved of the embarrassing attitude in which she now finds herself placed, the Legislature will doubtless adopt that method and thus protect the interests of the State.

When the result of the Committee's investigations shall be published, we will then be in a better condition to form an opinion as to the best means of preventing the sacrifice of the property owned by North Carolina in the Road. In the meantime, the sale is re-advertised to take place on the 22nd of February.

The Mississippi Legislature is considering the proposed impeachment of Judge Alderson, of the third district, in that State, upon charges said to be of the most damaging character.

PASSAGE OF THE SCHOOLLAW.

On yesterday the House passed a bill amending the School Act of 1871-'72, and sent the same to the Senate for concurrence. As soon as the bill becomes a law we will publish it in full.

One of the best methods by which the Legislature can raise money for the benefit of the school fund is to pass a law requiring all voters to exhibit their receipts for poll tax before they are allowed to vote. Article fifth, section second, of the Constitution of North Carolina, provides that the proceeds of the State and county capitation tax shall be applied to purposes of education and support of the poor, but that not more than twenty-five per cent. thereof shall be appropriated to the latter purpose. The State will be benefited several thousands by making the pre-payment of the poll tax a necessary qualification for a voter.

THE BATTLE OF GETTYSBURG.—The Lexington (Va.) Gazette, gives a brief synopsis of Rev. Dr. Pendleton's address before the Lee Memorial Meeting in that town last Monday, from which we make the following extract:

In alluding to General Longstreet's long and unexplained delay in attacking at Gettysburg, the speaker spoke of him as the "sturdy soldier." He showed, however, that this unaccountable inactivity was fatal. The ground had been examined the evening previous by General Pendleton at the desire of General Lee, and Longstreet was ordered to attack at daylight. Lee waited with glass in hand, hour by hour, dispatching orders to move, and finally went himself. The attack began in the evening instead of at dawn. It made at sunrise, the Confederates, as the world now knows, would have won a great victory. A great victory there would have put the Southern army in Philadelphia and Washington.

A bill which seems deserving of favor also consideration is that introduced by Mr. Blumenthal in the New York Assembly, making it a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $50, to point a fire-arm, whether loaded or not, at a human being, and making the penalty for discharging it, without intent to injure, a fine of $100, or a year's imprisonment.

Legitimist journals report that the words of the Duke de Mours announcing that a union of the Orleans branch with the eldest line of the House of Bourbon, are complete, and that seven princes of the Orleans family have recognized the Count de Chambard as the rightful king of France.

The European steamers sailing from New York Saturday, carried out an immense treasure, amounting to fully $2,500,000 of which $2,000,000 was in gold coin.

Hon. Thomas Ewing is spoken of as the Democratic candidate for Governor in Ohio.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—HOUSE.—The bill passed restoring, from date, pensions to Southern people. This repeals the bill of 1862, striking off all who sympathized with the rebellion. It gives no back pay.

James B. Stewart.

James B. Stewart was before the House for contempt. He made the House a speech, and various resolutions were offered that he be confined in jail and have only bread and water until he purged, &c., when he was committed to the custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms until he be purged. The Speaker addressing Mr. Stewart, and asked him whether he was willing to appear before the Committee, and make answer to the questions for the refusal to answer which he had been ordered into custody. Stewart said: "Mr. Speaker and House of Representatives—I disclaim any contempt of the authority of this House or of its Committee. I repeat what I have stated before the Committee and the House, that I have fully answered all questions except those matters that come to my knowledge solely from my relations as counsel, and I respectfully protest against being required to do so; and I decline to disclose anything confided me as counsel. Mr. Stewart was then removed from the Hall in the custody of Mr. Ordway, the Sergeant-at-Arms.

SENATE.—West has been appointed to fill Kellogg's vacancy on the Lyceum Committee.

Anthony introduced a bill incorporating the Mississippi and Ohio Tunnel and Tube Company, with a capital of ten million dollars, to construct a tunnel under the Mississippi and Ohio rivers, to be used for connecting railroads centering near their junction. Among the incorporators named are Thomas A. Scott and J. N. McCullough, of Pennsylvania; J. Pierpont Morgan, W. S. Rosecrans and H. G. Marquand, of New York; A. C. Buisside, of Rhode Island; N. B. Curtin and W. P. Coolbaugh, of Illinois.

At one o'clock the consideration of the Legislative Appropriation bill was resumed. The pending question was on the motion of Sprague to reconsider the vote by which Morrill's amendment was adopted, prohibiting the payment, unless by special act of Congress, of judgments of the Court of Claims to claimants whose loyalty during the rebellion has not been proved.

Trumbull argued in favor of the motion to reconsider, and against the amendment, which he said would violate the pledged faith of both the Legislative and the Executive Departments of the Government.

Messrs. Morrill, of Vermont, Edmunds and Scott, made arguments on the other side. The motion to reconsider was agreed to by a two-thirds majority.

Stevenson moved to lay the amendment on the table. The yeas 28, nays 31. Alcorn, of Mississippi, offered an amendment to the amendment, extending the time for the presentation of claims to twelve months from the passage of this act. Conkling moved to lay Alcorn's amendment on the table, agreed to, 32 to 27. Alcorn moved to amend the Morrill amendment so as to make it apply only to the claim of G. B. Lamar, of Georgia. Conkling moved to lay this amendment on the table; agreed to. After some dilatory motions, on the Democratic side, the Morrill amendment, unchanged, was agreed to by a vote of yeas 24, nays 23.
